We process your personal data in compliance with the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), the Federal Data Protection Act (BDSG), the data protection-relevant provisions of the Insurance Contract Act (VVG) and all other relevant laws.

If you would like advice on the subject of charter insurance, we need the information you provide for the advice, the assessment of the risk to be assumed and the conclusion of the contract. If the insurance contract is concluded, we and the (re)insurers process this data to carry out the contractual relationship, for example for invoicing or in the event of a claim. Advice, placing and conclusion or implementation of the insurance contract, or the processing of a claim, or the implementation of a SEPA direct debit mandate given to us, or the fulfilment of our contractual service obligation - e.g. the payment of benefits - is not possible without the processing of your personal data possible.

In addition, we and the insurers need your personal data to create insurance-specific statistics, for example to develop new tariffs, to meet regulatory requirements and to provide you with individual advice regarding your insurance.

We use personal computers, NAS and so-called cloud services to process and store customer data as part of our tasks. The cloud services provide functions and services to comply with GDPR requirements. The use of these functions ensures compliance with GDPR requirements.

The legal basis for this processing of personal data for advisory, pre-contractual and contractual purposes is Article 6 Paragraph 1 b) GDPR. To the extent that special categories of personal data are required (e.g. your health data in the event of a claim under an accident insurance contract), we will obtain your consent in accordance with Article 9 paragraph 2 a) i. In accordance with Article 7 GDPR. If we create statistics with these data categories, this is done on the basis of Article 9 Paragraph 2 j) GDPR i. V. m. § 27 BDSG. We also process your data to protect our legitimate interests or those of third parties (Article 6 Paragraph 1 f) GDPR and Recital 47 Sentence 2 GDPR). This may be necessary in particular:

- to ensure IT security and business operations,
- to update address data of our customers and interested parties
- to prevent and solve crimes. Specifically, insurers use data analysis
- to identify indications that may indicate insurance fraud.

In addition, we process personal data to fulfil legal obligations (e.g. regulatory requirements, commercial and tax retention obligations or our obligation to provide advice). In this case, the legal basis for processing is the respective legal regulations in conjunction with Article 6 Paragraph 1 c) GDPR. If we want to process your personal data for a purpose not mentioned above, we will inform you in advance.
